Validity Study on NIE 32-58
The Outlook for Greece's Stability and Foreign Position
dated 23 September 1958

The main estimates on the Greek domestic, political, and economic prospects have held up well. Much of the assessment of the outlook for Greece's foreign affairs also proved essentially sound. NIE 32-58 did not, however, anticipate the Cyprus settlement of 1959, with the result that the estimate was based on the assumption that the Cyprus conflict, with all its implications for Greek internal and foreign affairs, would continue.
